Where to Find Our Books

UC's copies of our mass-digitized books and serials are being loaded into the HathiTrust, and are discoverable there. In addition, our digitization partners (Google and Internet Archive) also host copies of the UC books they have digitized. In all cases, copyright status determines whether books can be viewed in full. There are many access points where Google and Internet Archive books are surfaced. The following are details of access points for UC items in particular.

HathiTrust
 UC Libraries books and serials in the public domain in HathiTrust are open to all researchers wherever and whenever they may be. Content in HathiTrust is discoverable through both bibliographic and full-text search with no authentication, login, or password required. As it becomes possible to expand access to the materials through permissions or other agreements, other materials will be made available.

Google Book Search
 UC Libraries books and serials in the public domain are generally fully viewable and downloadable. UC Libraries volumes made available through Google Book Search that are in copyright are subject to limited views. Google indexes the full text, but does not serve or display the full-sized digital image or make available for printing and/or download unless Google has permission or a license from the copyright owner.

The University of California Libraries

Why is UC participating in the HathiTrust?

- Preservation and stewardship of UC resources
  - Brings our Google and Internet Archive books together in a common preservation repository under UC control
- Economy of scale
  - Storing mass digitized books is expensive – many terabytes of data
- Better access to our own books
  - Create robust links to full text in HathiTrust in Next Generation Melvyl, including all viewable content from UC and other participating libraries
  - Build improved access interfaces via the HathiTrust API
- Aggregate multiple library collections for greater research impact
  - HathiTrust will support shared access and search mechanisms across all partner content to the extent possible
  - With UC, over 5 million books and counting
  - Over ¾ million books in the public domain
- Experiment with large scale search, text mining, and other specialized services developed with academic users in mind
  - Google and Internet Archive are building services for the general user
  - Research libraries will build services optimized for serious research

About HathiTrust Mission & Goals Functional Objectives Governance

Welcome to the Shared Digital Future

HathiTrust is a bold idea with big plans.
As a digital repository for the nation's great research libraries, HathiTrust (listen to pronunciation) brings together the immense collections of partner institutions.

HathiTrust was conceived as a collaboration of the thirteen universities of the Committee on Institutional Cooperation and the University of California system to establish a repository for these universities to archive and share their digitized collections.

Partnership is open to institutions worldwide who share this grand vision.

HathiTrust is a solution.
To prospective partners, HathiTrust offers leadership and reliability. It provides a no-worry, pain-free solution to archiving vast amounts of digital content. You can rely on the expertise of other librarians and information technologists who understand your needs and who will address the issues of servers, storage, migration, and long-term preservation.

You will shape HathiTrust.
Growing the world's largest library won't happen overnight. You've heard of other digital libraries. This one is different in concept and scale. Its greatest promise—and challenge—rests in defining how to serve researchers in the digital age. Together we will develop and refine the services needed to search and use such a large digital collection, and realize collectively our greatest potential as a library community. Together we will make HathiTrust available, to everyone, anywhere, any time. Together we will shape the future.

Bold idea. Big plan. Join HathiTrust.
